THE WEATHER

by night.

The disturbance which was central over western Pennsylvania Thursday moved northeastward and was central over description over the same severe storm. It was attended by gales Friday in the Atlantic states from Jacksonville, Fla., northward and by general precipitation over the eastern states.

The temperature was much lower Friday throughout the eastern states except on the New England coast.

The indications are for generally fair weather Saturday and Sunday in the states east of the Mississippi river.

The temperature will fall Saturday along the north Atlantic coast. It will rise in the Atlantic stafes Sunday.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for Maine.

Storm warnings are displayed along the Atlantic coast from Hatteras to Northern New England: Partly cloudy and much colder Saturday, cold wave in Maine; Sunday fair; continued cold.

Southern New England: Fair and colder Saturday; Sunday fair; slowrising temperature.

Eastern New York: Fair Saturday, somewhat colder southeast: Sunday air, slowly rising temperature.

Observations in Norwich, The following records, reported from Sevin's pharmacy, show the changes in temperature and the barometric changes Friday:

Compensation Commissioner Donohue Finds They Were Real Governing Power Over Services of John Foley, Killed in Accident-Decedent's Widow Was Awarded Compensation For 312 Weeks from February Seventh

Mrs. Mary Folsy of Waterford has been awarded conspensation for a period of 212 weeks dating from February 7th for the death of her husband, John Folsy, who was killed by Gotober 24, 1918, in the course of his employment. The award carries with it compensation for afteen weeks (Ost. 1918, to February 2, 1917, to the course of his employment. The award carries with it compensation for afteen weeks (Ost. 1918, to February 2, 1917, to the course of his employment. The award carries with it compensation for fifteen weeks (Ost. 1918, to February 2, 1917, to the course of his employment. The compensation Commissioner finds at the time of the accident Mr. Folse was performing services for the F. H. and A. H. Chappell Company, The case was heard in the commissioner finds that the Reeden Construction Company services and salary of Mr. Folsy.

of the Redden Construction company.

The Compensation Awarded.

It is awarded that the respondents.

The Redden Construction company, and the Employer's Liability Assurance corporation shall pay to Mary Poley, the claimant, compensation for fifteen weeks, (October 35th, 1915, to February 6, 1917, both inclusive) at the rate of six dollars weekly, amounting to 190, the same to be paid in a lump sum, and that compensation at the same rate, six dollars weekly, shall be paid for a period not to exceed weeks in the total from February 7, 1911; also that the said sadden Construction company cording to Section 7 of the act as amended also that said Redden Construction company shall pay to the claimant, $100 for burial expenses; the total amount now due, $196, to be paid the claimant through her attorney, and all future payments to be maded direct to said Mary Foley at whatever address she may from time to time indicate.

In the opening out the commissioner says:

Mr. Redden testified that in finding employment for Foley he simply did so as a friend trying to give him steady work, and that he did not take a profit on the individual team of Foleys and all future payments to be maded in the seminant of the commissioner says:

Mr. Redden testified that in finding employment for Foley he simply did so as a friend trying to give him steady work, and that he did not take a profit on the individual team of Foleys and the did not take a profit on the individual team of Foleys but gave him the full amount which was paid to the Redden company the Chappell Co. for the team and a bill was presented by the daught. The bill in question of the commissioner says:

Mr. Redden testified that in finding employment for Foley he simply did so as a friend trying to give him steady work, and that he did not take a profit on the individual team of Foleys but gave him the full amount which was paid to the Redden company the Chappell Co. for the team and a bill was presented by the daught.

Redden Company's Claims.

The claims made by the attorney for the Redden Construction Co. are:

That John Foley was an independent contractor: that his injury did not arise out of his employment; that the relation of employer and employe did not exist between him and the F. H. and A. H. Chappell company.

It seems to me that claims 1 and 3 are at variance and somewhat contradictory. If Foley was an independent contractor then he could not be an employe of the F. H. & A. H. Chappell company or vice versa.

The second claim made by the atterney for the Redden Construction Co. is that Foley's inuries did not arise out of his employment and in commenting on same the attorney refers to the case of Bly vs. Broows & Son. Conn. W. C. A. Digest, p. 397 in which the court says:

"The injury to be 'out of' the employment must be a natural incident."

Miss Nora Shahan, who for the past few years has been a telephone operator at the local exchange, resigned her position Friday night, as she is to leave soon for Jacksonville, Fla., where her parents will reside. The high esteem in which Miss Shahan was held by the operators was demonstrated Friday afternoon when they presented her a brooch. Miss Shahan was taken completely by surprise, but managed to thank her admiring friends in well chosen words. The arrangements were made by Miss Nellie Nichols and Miss Mildred E. Gibson. The presentation speech was made by Miss Gibson in a clever way. Ideal Singing Orchestra, Bijou, Jew ett City, tonight.—adv.
